

NetSuite and Salesforce.com link in the clouds

By Geoff Nairn

Published: April 7 2009 13:39

Two clouds are better than one. So thinks NetSuite, which has joined forces with fellow online software pioneer Salesforce.com to link their cloud initiatives and so gain critical mass.

Using a new "connector" application, SuiteCloud Connect for Salesforce.com, businesses using Salesforce.com's customer relationship management software can also link into their back-end processes using NetSuite's business application cloud.