NetSuite Rolls Out Application Tool

NetSuite, a developer of integrated on demand ERP and CRM business software, has unveiled its SuiteCloud Developer Network, reports IT Business.

The new programme includes the SuiteCloud developer network for ISVs and SuiteApp.com, a single-source online marketplace where ISVs, customers and solution providers can find partner-developed applications to meet specific business and industry needs.

Guido Haarmans, vice-president of the NetSuite developer network, says: “We looked at what the opportunity was for developers and we saw a platform that's very mature and we saw great opportunity for ISVs to build vertical applications”.
